Moyle District Council	Moyle District Council and Glenariff Improvement Group will transform a derelict building into a Coastal Centre in Waterfoot, County Antrim. The refurbishment will provide a beach café and visitor experience celebrating the rich cultural history of the Sea of Moyle. It will become an additional attraction and stop off point for visitors travelling along the scenic Causeway Coastal Route and also for a growing number of canoeists/kayakers exploring the coast for leisure purposes. The project will bring employment opportunities in retail, catering and tourism as well as a community facility not available locally. Local artists and craft makers will be provided with retail space for their goods	£186,560

Kilkeel Development Association	The project will deliver Northern Ireland's first lobster hatchery which will produce juvenile lobsters for release into the wild to sustain the local lobster population in the longer term. The hatchery will also provide an educational resource through which awareness and understanding of lobsters will be improved. A partnership with Queens University, Belfast will develop a research resource from which better practice husbandry processes will be developed for lobster development. CCF funding will purchase hatchery equipment able to support onward growth of 100,000 lobsters per annum and revenue costs.	£260,872
